

PGE ARENA - GDANSK (POLAND)

The PGE Arena Gdansk is a multi-functional stadium that was specifically built for the EURO 2012. The Polish football stadium is in the city of Gdansk on the Baltic Sea.

Construction work commenced in December 2008. It was completed after a two-and-a-half-year building phase in July 2011. In August 2011, the Arena was then opened with the match between Lechia Gdansk and Cracovia Cracow.

EURO 2012 matches:

3 group matches
1 quarter final

Facts a glance:
Capacity: 41,582
Completion: 2011

TROX contribution:
Volume flow controllers
Diffusers